Presumed drowned

Dragging and diving operations were underway Saturday afternoon for the body of John Hitch, 25, of Lakeshore, presumed drowned after jumping off the Bayou La Croix Bridge around noon, according to Hancock County sheriff Ronald Peterson. Among those searching for the missing person were, Mississippi Highway Patrol diver Ray Fullerton (in water), from left in boat, Hancock dispatcher Mary Odom and Deputy Bill Pepperman. Peterson said, Hitch and another man reportedly jumped from the bridge with both coming up, and then Hitch, who was wearing blue jeans went under. Several boats joined in the search including officers from the Bureau of Marine Resources. The search for Hitch continued at press time. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

One dead, two injured in three-car collision

BY TRACI BONNEY

A three-car collision on Hwy. 603 Saturday left one person dead and two injured, according to Mississippi Highway Patrol Trooper Glenn Grice.

Ollie Gallaspy, 43, of Gulfport, was northbound on Hwy. 603 when the accident occurred, Grice said. A car stopped in front of the cement truck Gallaspy was driving, and he applied the brakes to avoid hitting the car.

The cement truck, owned by Pat Fore Concrete in Gulfport, skidded. When Gallaspy tried to turn the steering wheel, the truck turned, blocking the southbound lane of traffic.

Thelma Aronstein, 60, of Waveland, was southbound in a 1990 Toyota. She hit the cement truck, which turned over onto her car.

A 1985 Volkswagen being driven by Chad J. Bordes, 18, of Bay St. Louis, then ran into the top of the overturned truck. Aronstein was pronounced dead at Hancock Medical Center.

Bordes and a passenger, Ryan P. Lee, 15, of Metairie, were taken to HMC with injuries. Gallaspy was shaken but uninjured, Grice said.

He added that the incident is still under investigation. No charges had been filed at press time.

Local bingo operators await decision on ban

BY TRACI BONNEY

To bingo or not to bingo? That is the question.

The answer being given by local charity bingo operators is: "We don't know yet."

The game was nearly killed in late April by Hinds County Chancery Judge Chet Dillard, who ruled bingo violates the state constitution's ban on lotteries. However, Dillard gave the game a dose of judicial CPR and resuscitated it for a 90-day grace period to give the state legislature time to change the constitution.

The legislature did not make the changes needed to keep bingo alive, and the grace period ends July 27.

Bingo operators had requested an extension from Dillard while the game's constitutionality is debated, but he refused at a Thursday hearing to lift the ban. He did say, however, that he would reconsider if the state Supreme Court doesn't hear arguments from bingo operators before the ban begins.

Even though attorneys for several bingo operators started working Friday to appeal Dillard's decision through the state Supreme Court, the game's future remains in limbo at this time. This leaves local charity organizations in the dark concerning the future of the game and funding for some of their programs.

Lawrence Freeman, commander of American Legion Post No. 77, said, "We don't know yet what we will do. We are having our next general meeting next Wednesday, and that is what we are planning to discuss."

He did say that bingo games scheduled for July 27 will go on as planned.

Richard Brehm, commander of American Legion Post No. 139, said, "We're hoping for the extension, but we'll cross that bridge when we get to it."

Myra Spiess, bingo chairman of VFW Post 4808, commented, "Whatever we're advised to do, that's what we'll do."

Knights of Columbus Grand Knight Bob Hubbard said the organization will start selling lunches on Saturdays to raise money if bingo is not allowed to continue.

VFW Post 3253 Commander Truman Schultz could not be reached for comment.

Ammo plant layoffs continue

Mothballing process on hold

BY TRACI BONNEY

Layoffs continue at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant as two areas have shut down and a third nears completion of its contract.

Robert Burns, public information director for Mason Chamberlain Inc., said the projectile metal parts and cargo metal parts areas, the sections where the shells and casings are produced, have finished their contracts and are closed. The load/assemble/pack area is close to completion of its contract.

Layoffs to date have totaled almost 600, Burns said. The latest layoff occurred July 13, 16 and 17, and reduced the workforce by nearly 200.

"Once the production contracts are completed, we anticipate having about 500 people here to start the mothballing process. Mothballing has not started as such because there are no contracts lined up yet with MCI."

He said mothballing is also on hold while the Army considers privatizing the plant.

"It (when or if mothballing will start) depends on what kind of firm interest in the plant the Army gets."

If mothballing starts at the time currently planned, Burns said, the plant's workforce is anticipated to be reduced to 100 people 20 months from November.

"The good side of this is that the placement center is still open. It has served about 900 people since the center opened in March, and has found jobs for about 250 people. The center will be open until about September, so anyone who has been laid off or will be laid off can still go there for job placement assistance."

Burns said laid off workers also can enroll in courses at area training centers such as the one in Picayune that opened last week, if they choose to retrain instead of entering a job search in areas related to their ammunition plant work.

Two men charged in rash of local burglaries

BY TRACI BONNEY

Two local men have been charged in several burglaries of area residences, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Matt Karl.

Roy Scott Henderson, 18, of Lakeshore, and Robert Ragusa, 19, of Waveland, were arrested Wednesday afternoon and charged with nine counts each of burglary. One of the burglaries took place in Waveland and the other eight occurred in the Shoreline Park area, Karl said.

The arrests stemmed from an investigation started when the Bay St. Louis Police Department informed the sheriff's department and the Waveland Police Department of a lead on the burglaries. Officers involved in the investigation included investigators Sandra Henley of the Waveland Police Department, Dave Parker and Tom Burleson of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, and Nathan Hoda and Karl of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Authorities had recovered about 90 percent of the stolen goods as of Friday, Karl said. Items recovered included televisions, VCRs, jewelry, guns, coins, cameras, a microwave and stereo equipment.

"We have all the goods identified already," Hoda said. "We know where everything is supposed to go."

Bonds were set at $25,000 each for Henderson and Ragusa at an initial appearance Friday. Both were still incarcerated in the Hancock County jail as of press time.

Part of stolen items recovered.

City foots bill for jail stay

Favre joins other Coast cities in opposing costs

BY TRACI BONNEY

While four Harrison County cities are openly opposing paying $12 a day to house city prisoners in the Harrison County jail, opposition to a similar arrangement in Hancock County is less vocal.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said he has not heard any complaints from either Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward A. "Eddie" Favre or Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. about the $7 a day fee paid by the cities to cover the costs of city prisoners' meals while in the county jail.

"In fact, we're considering raising the fee because of rising costs. I still have to discuss it with the two mayors, though."

Peterson added that the cities are also responsible for city prisoners' medical expenses.

While Peterson said he has not heard any complaints, some do exist, according to Favre.

"It gets back to the need for consolidation of certain areas," he said. "County residents pay county taxes, which are used to house county prisoners. City residents pay city and county taxes, so they're paying to house city and county prisoners, in addition to paying the fee."

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
 LeDoux, SVD

On creating conditions

"I don't want to be here!" "I don't like it here!" "I'm sick and tired of putting up with all this! I'd rather die!"

Almost all of us have heard some harried individual speak in this fashion at one time or another. If anything, we hear this dirge so often that it has become one of the daily pains which bombard our ears and which aggravate our own parade of problems.

In some cases, we may be part or even most of the reason(s) why someone cries out in this manner. Yes, we create or help create the living conditions which make life bearable or unbearable, pleasant or annoying, meaningful or dead-end, fulfilling or empty both for ourselves and for the people who share our space.

"As you make your bed, so will you have to lie in it," the old folks always told.

Rather than go into multiple quotations, I call all of you to witness the inherited wisdom of your own lives which tells us how true it is that we create most of the conditions which determine how real and at ease we are with life.

More than others, people in positions of power have a great deal to say about general living conditions: the political climate, social relations, health and hygiene, economics, military and police forces, religion, communications and recreation. The powers that be call the tunes and time the beats.

However, parents, family, relatives, friends, teachers, counselors and all of us in our sundry relations with each other create the very personal and most trying conditions of our life from moment to moment.

It is we, not the powers that be, who call the shots which have the greatest impact on our well-being, our comfort level with ourselves and others, our peace of mind, our emotional health, and our overall satisfaction with life.

Psychologists keep telling us that insanity is nothing more or less than withdrawal from reality in order to escape something undesirable about reality.

They tell us further that we inflict madness on each other by creating that miserable atmosphere in which madness seems to be a welcome way out of hurt and sadness.

The Great Psychologist gives us even more pointed advice in the Sermon on the Mount, beginning with Matthew 5. He goes to considerable length in explaining to us how to be of sound mind, emotions and soul. In short, he urges us to create good living conditions and a life-giving instead of a killer atmosphere.

"Love your enemies; pray for your persecutors," he commands us. This attitude takes the worst environment imaginable, namely hatred, and converts it into the best; this is, love.

Even among the hostile, we can live well under this condition. From enemies, Jesus turns to forgiveness of acquaintances and friends:

"If you bring your gift to the altar and there recall that your brother has anything against you, leave your gift at the altar, go first to be reconciled with your brother, and then come and offer your gift" (Mt. 5: 23-24).

Jesus goes on to warn us against anger, jealousy, the love of money, and the awful drive toward revenge. He tells us to remove all negative things from our lives, to do unto others as we would have them do unto us, and to lay up for ourselves treasure in heaven where neither moths nor rust nor thieves can destroy it.

These are the conditions of reality, of sanity, where no one has to hide behind fantasy in order to cope with life. They lead one to say: "I have (something) (someone) to live for! Life is definitely worthwhile! I like it here!"

MAKING A DIFFERENCE

By Janet McQueen

Volunteers bring joy to the elderly

Days could easily blend one into another were it not for generous, caring people who visit the elderly.

In the confines of a convalescent home, interaction with others is often restricted to the nursing staff or other patients. Few have regular visitors.

A glimpse of life outside the home is a welcome respite.

On this particular day, a group of wheelchair-bound elderly folks sit in the spacious recreation room of Hotel Reed Convalescent Home anxiously awaiting the arrival of a small band of ladies—amateur musicians with big hearts.

"It's such a wonderful feeling to see their fingers tapping on the table," said volunteer coordinator Roslyn Weathers.

Sounds of gospel hymns and "oldies but goodies" from another era drift from the piano played by Lena Mae Oustalet of Pass Christian—with accompanying vocals by Weathers, Oris Planchard, Elaine Roberts, Juanita Seissen and Pat Turnipseed.

The activity is conducted by American Legion Post 139 auxiliary in Bay St. Louis, and is a pet project of Weathers'. She also organizes monthly birthday parties for the residents, giving them small, useful personal items such as hairbrushes, dusting powder and such.

"I can't say enough about our volunteers," said Hotel Reed activity director Sam Compston. "If it weren't for them, there would hardly be an activity program at all."

Members of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post and auxiliary and American Legion Posts 77 and 139 assist with outdoor cook-outs.

A group of senior citizens from the Retired Senior Volunteer Program perform gospel hymns for the patients each month.

Under the direction of Erskine Skelton of Waveland, the group includes Olga Skelton, Hazel Breaux, Esther Bussey, Ida Carter, Mary Clark, Nora Fuente, Sue Hale; Gwen Ishem, Rita Marti, Charlotte Richardson, Gertrude Sauer, Ernestine Schneider, Virginia Schwab, Mary Thompson, Thelma White, Geneva Jones and Hattie Lee.

"Many of our churches and homemaker groups visit with our patients," said Compston. "It really brightens the day."

Several of the patients who otherwise do not communicate respond to music, which Compston says is a great stimulator.

Musicians Vic Green and Ray Noble entertain the residents each month. Green plays country music on guitar, accompanied by Emmett Johnston and Bert Johnson.

"A lot of times when we leave, they are all talking together—we know they've enjoyed it," said Green, who takes his small "band" to several other convalescent homes along the Coast.

During the school year, several groups of teenagers spend time with the elderly residents. St. Stanislaus Key Club and Bay High School Interact Club are two such organizations.

Compston reports many patients check the daily calendar in hopes of finding one of these volunteer-sponsored activities.

Hat's off to those of you who bring warmth and cheer to the lives of the elderly.

Grice gets 25 years for assault

Hancock County Circuit Judge Kosta Vlahos gave David Allen Grice, 27, a 25-year prison sentence Wednesday for assaulting a police officer.

Grice was arrested June 27, 1989, after Mississippi Highway Patrol Trooper Darryl E. Deschamp stopped Grice's vehicle for speeding on I-10. Deschamp arrested and handcuffed him when he learned Grice was wanted in Illinois for a parole violation.

Grice slipped out of the cuffs, grabbed a rifle, jumped out of Deschamp's patrol car and confronted the officer. Deschamp pulled his pistol and began firing.

Grice dropped the gun, fell to the ground and surrendered. Assistant District Attorney Dale Harkey said Grice has six prior convictions for forgery and was wanted in Missouri on bad check charges.

Jail

"It's cheaper to pay the fee than to have our own jail, but since our taxes already support the jail what we're doing is paying a double fee."

Favre said he is in favor of countywide consolidation in every area possible, including law enforcement. "Ideally, this would mean a metro form of law enforcement, where there would be one agency for the whole county, and funds for that agency would come from a countywide tax levy."

Longo said city officials in Waveland are satisfied with the current jail arrangements.

Polozola counsels teens on sex and pregnancy

BY LIZ HAAS

Teen sexuality, pregnancy and parenthood—sensitive topics are all in a day's work for Janet Polozola, community education director at Hancock Medical Center.

"Polozola believes there is great peer pressure to have sex. She said, 'The girls I have worked with think sex is love and it's not. You can have sex with just about anyone. You shouldn't have sex with someone unless you can fully communicate with him in a loving relationship.'"

"It's really heart breaking," she said, "because a lot of these children have been taught about sex on the street—which leads to false information. One girl said she thought if you take a bath after you have sex you can't get pregnant."

Polozola said they do not know about their own bodies, their anatomies and are not aware of the changes taking place during puberty.

"A lot of their parents don't want to teach it (sex education) to them; but they also do not want someone else to teach their children about their bodies and sex," she said.

She said once someone has had sex, he/she will most likely continue to do so. Only a few people will realize the mistake and learn from it. In her year and one-half working with sexually active teenagers, she can count three girls who have changed.

"There are emotional problems that result from having premarital sex at an early age. It destroys a person's self-esteem," said Polozola.

She said these children do not have any strong, positive moral background taught at home. Many young people she has counseled have a lot of anger built-up inside of them because of possible neglect in the home environment.

Polozola said, "I believe the teenage sexuality problem has something to do with television. What these children see on television is that several sexual partners, infidelity and violence are acceptable behavior. A lot of the boys do not have respect for the girls, they just use them for pleasure."

She has found the pregnant teenagers she works with have no goals or priorities and most of them are not certain who the father of the child is.

She said the physical/emotional aspects of teenage pregnancy are tremendous. "These children are taking on a responsibility most adults find difficulty in. Teen parents, in most cases, end up being

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Persons needing help to solve a problem they may have with a federal agency, may want to bring it to the attention of one of Senator Thad Cochran's staff. His mobile office will visit at the Hancock County Courthouse next Thursday from 11 a.m. until noon.

The visit will also give residents an opportunity to discuss issues scheduled to come before the next session of Congress.

The mobile office visits are part of Senator Cochran's constituent service program to help provide contact between his office and residents and officials of the State of Mississippi.

The Herb Jefferys of Waveland must be very proud of their granddaughter, Ellen Jeffery, who will represent Bruce, Miss. in the state's Miss Hospitality Pageant in Starkville.

Ellen, we know your grandparents are very proud of you and we wish you luck in the pageant.

Quite frequently we receive complaints at the newspaper about litter or garbage from area residents.

Some complaints also come from elected officials and business people of our community.

It seems most of our elected officials are now facing some very critical times on the issue of garbage disposal.

If you want to see a pile of garbage develop, all one has to do is place a dumpster where it can be seen.

The dumpster in the municipal parking lot in downtown Bay St. Louis is a prime example.

The dumpster is for use by the merchants, but they are unable to use it because others are filling it up faster than it can be emptied.

One thing is for sure, we as Americans are responsible for so much litter that one day we will not have a place to dispose of all of it.

We need to think more about recycling.

More than half of summer has already passed as the month of July is fast coming to a close.

There is less than a month remaining before school bells will once again be ringing in another session.

I am sure there are some parents who cannot wait until school starts while others are enjoying the holidays with their youngsters.

It will soon be time to start getting clothes ready along with those much needed school supplies.

FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

By Mike Moore

Moore is fighting to restore rights of voters

It is now just a matter of time before we find out if Mississippians will regain their right to vote directly on important issues. It is my intention to see that you do.

The fight will be waged in the halls of the Mississippi Supreme Court. That court struck down the Initiative and Referendum Amendment to our state constitution in 1922.

In doing so, it deprived us of our right to gather names on a petition and bring issues to a vote of the people. I am now asking the court to reverse its 1922 decision, and return our right to vote.

If I, as attorney general, can convince the court to restore these rights to the people of Mississippi, state government will once again operate according to the mandate of our constitution, which declares, "All political power is vested in, and derived from, the people."

Many Mississippians do not know that we once enjoyed the powers of direct democracy. The history of the Initiative and Referendum Amendment dates back to the turn of the century. In November, 1914, at a time when progressive reforms were sweeping the country, Mississippians voted overwhelmingly to amend our 1890 Constitution and give the people these powers.

With the Initiative, the people could place issues on the ballot which the Legislature refused to address. With the Referendum, the people could stop the Legislature from enacting laws which the people did not support.

In 1917, the State Supreme Court rules the Initiative and Referendum Amendment was valid, and approved its insertion into the State Constitution. Over the next five years, Mississippians used these powers responsibly, passing the state's first school equity funding law, for example.

In 1922, though, the Supreme Court changed its mind, and ruled the amendment unconstitutional on grounds it should have been submitted for ratification as two separate proposals.

Earlier this year, State Representative Raymond Vecchio and Oliver Diaz collected more than 10,000 signatures from Mississippians who want to vote on the lottery issue. In March, they presented these petitions to the Secretary of State, who refused to put the issue on the ballot.

I then filed suit on behalf of the people of Mississippi to revive the Initiative and Referendum Amendment. This suit has now worked its way to the Mississippi Supreme Court. This was the court which took your right to vote away in 1922, and it is the only court which can now return it.

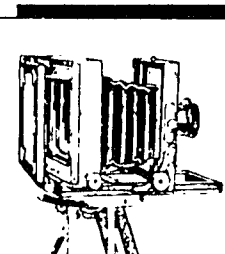

If we are successful in reinstating these rights of the people, and I firmly believe we will be, citizens of this state will no longer be at the mercy of bureaucracy.

For instance, many Mississippians were left frustrated by the recent special session of the Legislature. Not only was a great deal of taxpayer money spent on that session, nothing was accomplished.

Education Reform was not funded. Your right to vote on the governor's funding proposal was denied. You were given no option or voice in the matter. It is time to make sure that scenario does not repeat itself. We can do that through Initiative and Referendum.

The possibility of reviving this amendment to our constitution is one of the most exciting developments in Mississippi in the last decade. The Mississippi Supreme Court has the power to restore the voice of the people.

It is my job as your attorney

The Waveland Board of Aldermen approved an ordinance Wednesday night requiring all bus operators to carry a minimum of $100,000 liability insurance. The ordinance required insurance for any bus carrying more than 26 passengers anywhere in the city limits.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department held an organizational meeting for the formation of Junior Deputies. The meeting was held at the courthouse with Sheriff's Deputies Alvin Ladner, Jack Norwood, Floyd Fricke and Nathan Hoda discussing their department's Junior Deputy Program.

JULY 22, 1965

Faced with the problem of spending $200,000 to renovate and modernize the old courthouse or $900,000 to construct another, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors voted Monday for the new building. Including provision for adequate parking, a new jail, county offices and a one- to 15-acre site to allow for future expansion, the project may reach $1,300,000. H.G. Dean of Beat 1 pointed out the supervisors had been talking about this for two years and the public is aware of the necessity for a new building.

Elmer Ferguson, student at Hancock North Central School, won first place honors in tractor driving at 4-H State Congress last week. The event was held at Mississippi State University with 1,200 4-H members in attendance.

One cent letter postage is becoming an acute government issue at Washington, according to information just received by Mr. J.H. Weston of H. Weston Lumber Company, (Logtown). Mr. Weston is interesting his friends and acquaintances in the movement for a lower postage rate, and urging them to join in a campaign which is now being conducted throughout the United States. The National One Cent Letter Postage Association has distributed over sixty million of these stamps to businesses nationwide and they are about the same color and size as the ordinary two cent postage stamp.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

A time for recommitment to community advancement

Fourscore or more executive officers will be meeting in Hattiesburg this weekend to renew their commitment to the advancement of Mississippi's communities.

The group represents the finest volunteer force Mississippi has to offer—the membership of the state's local chambers of commerce.

The executive officers are the professional leaders of the chambers of commerce scattered through more than 100 counties, cities, towns and villages. The meeting in Hattiesburg is the annual conference of Mississippi's Chamber of Commerce Executives.

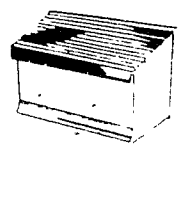

The meeting is designed to provide professional development for chamber executives. It is also used to remind the professional group that the most important asset of the local chamber is the volunteer membership.

Mississippi has long been noted for the quality of its local chamber management and administration and for the support of the chamber movement from local business and civic leaders.

Now, at a time when Mississippi urgently needs to move ahead, it is encouraging to know that the local chamber movement is alive and well, alert and active.

Now is a good time for chamber professionals to recommit themselves to the advancement of the community, and a good time for volunteer members to dedicate themselves to the task for building better and stronger chambers as a means of accelerating the advancement.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lottery would prey on those who could least afford it

Dear Editor,

The most popular and lucrative lottery game, the "numbers" game, is both targeted at and draws primarily from poor people. A president and co-founder of Scientific Games, a corporation specializing in lottery products and services, has said that the player selection or numbers game attracts low-income, minority players.

Evidence of the way in which lotteries appeal to poor people is clearly shown in the fact that their outlets are concentrated in poorer neighborhoods. One highly informative study was done in New Castle County, Delaware in 1979. The study found no lottery outlets in the upper-income neighborhoods where 17,630 people lived.

There was one lottery for every 17,774 people in upper-middle income neighborhoods. There was one lottery for every 5,032 people in the lower-middle to middle-income neighborhoods.

In the poorest neighborhoods there was one lottery outlet for every 1,981 people. Clearly, this is a picture of the state taking advantage of its poorer citizens' desperate hope for a big win.

Why would our governor propose such a discriminatory plan? Why would 28 of our senators support such a plan?

When you are willing to look at facts rather than hype, you can see that a state lottery will prey, primarily, on those who can least afford it.

Rev. Nathan L. Barber

Red Cross appeals for monetary assistance

To the Editor,

The American Red Cross exists as the agency for emergency preparedness.

In the past disasters, such as Camille, millions of dollars were poured into this community to help our people in desperate need. Whether it be for hurricanes or other unexpected disasters, we need to be prepared. For life and death hangs in the balance of our readiness.

Preparations requires money, equipment and personnel trained to handle any situation and is everyone's responsibility. For this reason, we are asking your help in sharing what you have so we can do a good job of aiding people in distress.

The Hancock County chapter of the American Red Cross is presently in need of essential training equipment, educational materials and monetary contributions. We have open a larger office to provide better services for the needy.

Our crisis fund is low and we need your help. Please call us with your tax deductible gift, that will provide for the many people who need our services.

All American Red Cross help is free. It is a gift from the American people. I greatly appreciate your help and will be available for your service when needed.

Sincerely,
Jeanne Garcia, director
Hancock County

Looking for 'gold' (or copper)

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Just what is that huge barge doing in the Bay?

Searching for an abandoned solid copper cable—worth quite a lot as salvage material, according to observers.

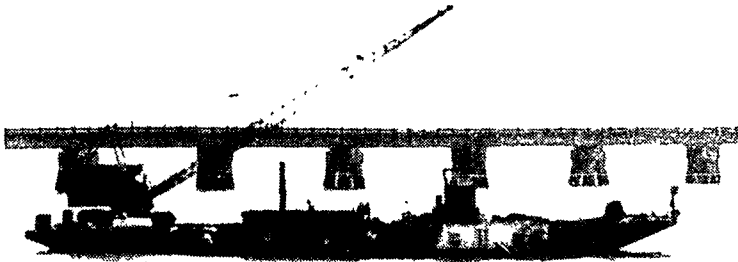

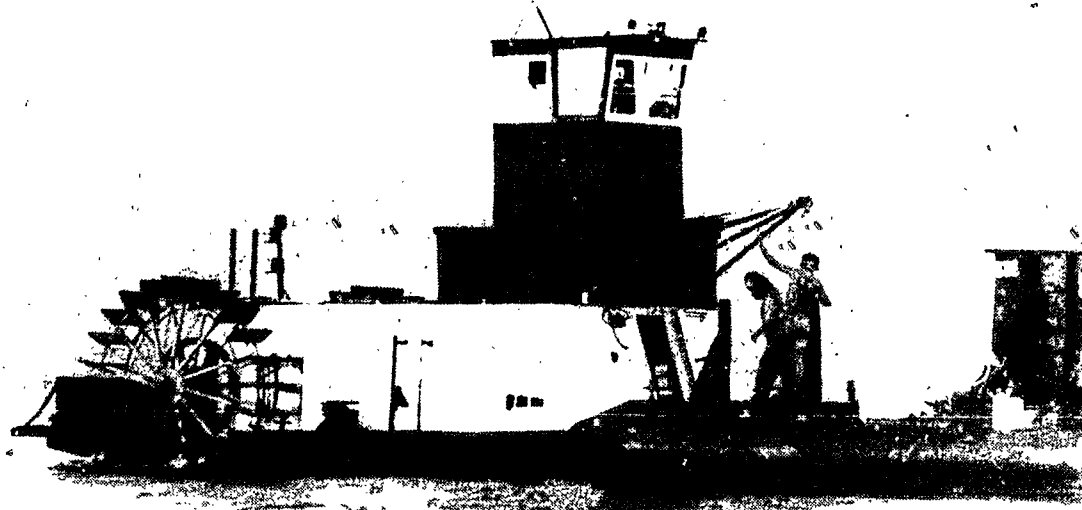

Tim Ryan, spokesman for South Central Bell, said the telephone company sold the rights to the abandoned cable last year.

Norvin Penrose Sr. of Waveland, a South Central Bell retiree, recalled the installation of the cable after the 1947 hurricane destroyed much of the aerial telephone cable along the Coast.

The cable connected the Bay-Waveland area with Pass Christian and Gulfport, providing more adequate service than the previous line spanning the CSX Railroad Bridge.

The copper cable was abandoned in favor of plastic fiber optics, according to Penrose, who retired in 1976 after 39 years.

Bay St. Louis real estate agent Ames Kergosien recalls watching residents search for the copper cable during low tide and "chop pieces of it with axes", noting a piece was located in a now-closed old barber shop in Bay St. Louis.

Food stamp program approved for S&H Grocery

S&H Grocery in Bay St. Louis recently received approval of its application for participation in the Food Stamp Program.

This means the store can now accept food stamps from shoppers as payment for groceries, and can turn those food stamps in to banks for redemption.

The Food Stamp Program is operated through the United States Department of Agriculture, Food and Nutrition Service. It gives assistance to those who have difficulty in buying enough food for themselves and their families because of low income or other financial problems.

abusive."

Many pregnant girls are put out on the streets by their families, which adds to an already stressful situation.

Teen pregnancies are considered high-risk. The teenage mother will experience more health risks and need more medical attention, so therefore, more money is needed for her and her child.

In the January 11, 1989 issue of The Times-Picayune, a story related "A young woman who had a baby in 1987 will cost the country nearly $39,000 if she receives welfare for about eight years. Based on $39,000 per illegitimate birth, Mississippi, with two-thirds of all teen births to unwed mothers, invested $187 million in 1987."

"The number of teen pregnancies is going up, but I think it will eventually decrease, hopefully in the next decade," Polozola said.

general to convince the state's highest court that Initiative and Referendum is your constitutional right, and that all of the arguments against it are pale in comparison to its potential benefits.

I firmly believe we can, and should, do this for Mississippi and its people. If we are successful, the political leaders of this state will never again dare to ignore the will of the people who elected them.

DieHard 500 will have $682,147 purse

Competitors in the July 29 DieHard 500 at Talladega Superspeedway will be racing for more than $680,000, the largest purse ever posted for this event.

The record purse will be at least $682,147 in posted awards, and could be considerably higher if the Unocal 76 Challenge award rolls over from the race at Pocono, which is being held the week before the DieHard 500.

Each Winston Cup track posts $7,600 for the races at their track, with the money being won only if a driver is able to win both the Busch Pole and the race. This hasn't happened since Geoff Bodine turned the trick at Martinsville in late April.

The bonus is worth $60,800 next week at Pocono, and would climb to $68,400 if it is rolled over to the DieHard 500.

If the driver who wins the Busch Pole Thursday, July 26, in qualifying also goes on to win the race, and the Unocal 76 Challenge bonus is still building, he would win more than $125,000.

1989 Die Hard 500 winner Terry Labonte won $73,920.

New Louisiana finfish regulations set

Since many Mississippi fishermen often venture to Louisiana waters, the following Louisiana regulations should be of interest.

Until Sept. 1, 1990, when the commercial speckled trout season reopens, possession of a speckled trout on board any vessel with a seine, gill, trammel or hoop net is illegal.

During the closure, minimum mesh size on any seine, gill or trammel net used in salt-water is increased to 4½ inches stretched except for strike nets.

A strike net is defined as any seine, gill or trammel net which is "not anchored or secured to the bottom or shore which is used off of a vessel and actively worked while being used."

No person shall have in possession more than two strike nets.

Persons commercially fishing for shark are now required by the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to obtain a permit and make monthly reports about their catch.

There is no charge for the permit. A special form for reporting the number, species and weight of sharks taken during each trip will be provided when fishermen apply for the permit.

Permit applications are available from the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, Commercial Licensing Division, P.O. Box 98000, Baton Rouge, LA 70898-9000.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy
McGuire Caire

Devotees of summer's fresh, fresh fruit and berries, such as I, are truly "in clover" these days with such a variety of fruits and berries crowding our supermarkets and at good prices as well.

It's truly difficult to improve upon the taste of watermelon and other melons, as well as canteloupes, just eaten "as is," but I also enjoy watermelon sherbert or ice on a scorching summer day, when I'm in a mood to make it, that is! Sometimes, I take the lazy road, and cube or cut it into balls or even just haphazard shapes, and chill just awhile in the freezer, and enjoy.

And for youngsters of the family, I often made watermelon popsicles. Here's:

WATERMELON ICE

This old Southern recipe for "cooling off" is difficult to set down in exact proportions, so let me give you the general idea as told to me long years ago by the family cook:

Cut the meat from half a large, ripe (or course) watermelon, and extract the juice. (Mary used a cloth bag before the days of blenders and such.) To the watermelon juice, add the juice of three or four medium oranges and two lemons. Stir in a cup of sugar and freeze in ice trays or in a "real" ice cream freezer. When lightly frozen, add a beaten egg white and continue freezing.

Serve in scooped-out melon rind. (Hope that you haven't been lazing about while it froze, instead of working at scooping out the shell) and garnish with seedless white grapes and mint leaves. Of course, you don't have to go to all that trouble of scooping out the shell, just serve in small dessert dishes, but it makes an impression even on family, not to mention guests!

—from my cookbook,
Katy's Cookbook—
Cooking Up A Storm.

As for the popsicles, to make a dozen of 'em, you'll need three cups of watermelon juice, along with a half cup each of water and sugar, and a teaspoon or so of lemon juice.

In a small saucepan, stir together the sugar and water, and simmer for two or three minutes. Remove from the heat and stir in the watermelon juice and lemon juice. Pour into those popsicle containers or makers, and freeze until solid.

Sometimes, I just freeze the mixture in ice trays, with a popsicle or other stick in each. For the watermelon juice, cut the melon into cubes, then rub through a strainer to get rid of the seeds.

Oh, but it's the berries that bring braves. And, to ensure that you enjoy them at their freshest, sort them as soon as possible after purchase, and trim any bruised berries. Use as quickly as possible, and store in the fridge, covered with plastic wrap, until ready to use. And as we all know, DON'T wash the berries until you're ready to use them!

An ever-so-tasty way with blueberries is a blueberry coffee cake, especially this:

FRESH BLUEBERRY COFFEE CAKE

1 1/2 cup fresh blueberries

1/2 cup sugar
2 Tblsp. cornstarch
1/3 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 carton (8 oz.) commercial sour cream
1 tsp. almond extract
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
Powdered sugar glaze (recipe follows)

Combine blueberries, 1/2 cup sugar and cornstarch in small saucepan, and cook over low heat two or three minutes, or until the sauce is thickened, stirring constantly. Set the sauce aside.

Cream the butter, gradually add a cup of sugar, beating until well blended. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine the flour, baking powder, soda and salt, and add to the creamed mixture alternately with the sour cream, beginning and ending with the flour mixture. Stir in the almond extract.

Spoon half the batter into a greased 8-inch bundt pan or tube pan. Spoon over half the blackberry sauce, swirling partially through the batter with a knife. Repeat with remaining batter and blueberry sauce. Sprinkle the pecans over.

Bake in a 350-degree oven for 50 minutes, or until done. Let stand for five minutes before removing from the pan. Place on a serving plate and drizzle the powdered sugar glaze over the top.

POWDERED SUGAR GLAZE

3/4 cup sifted powdered sugar
1 Tblsp. warm water
1/2 Tblsp. almond extract
Combine all, and mix well (yields 1/2 cup)

—from "Southern Living" annual cookbook, 1981
(Shirley Schmidt had brought this delicious coffee cake to our morning coffee session at Four R's Cafe in the Pass, for her grandson Matthew's first birthday, and we all clamored for the recipe.)

With turkey breasts on super-special at our area supermarkets, why not cut up some of the plentiful fruit, say oranges and apples and peaches, and put into the cavity of the breast, and under it, along with some chopped green onions and celery and bake—for a tasty meal, with leftovers to boot.

Or do as I often do: cut slices from the raw breast and use just as you would veal cutlets, or pork tenderloin slices, in so many quick and tasty recipes.

And make a tasty turkey salad from leftover cooked turkey with halved grapes and pecans, along with chopped celery and green onions and seasonings and just enough sour cream to bind it all together. You may like a bit of curry powder as well, but add this with caution as it can be overpowering!

Other good buys this week: boneless rump roast and chuck roast; boneless bottom round steak and boneless beef stew. And there's corn and okra and tomatoes and bell (green) peppers and squash aplenty.

Lawn grasses respond to good maintenance

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Last week I wrote about my aspiration for, but inability to achieve, the picture-perfect, green lawn. Opening myself to public ridicule over dull lawn mower blades and cat hairballs, I failed to mention a reluctance to water the lawn.

This year, the ravages of the December 1989 freeze can be added to the list of stumbling blocks along the path to an attractive lawn.

David Nagel, turfgrass specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, recently placed on my desk a special report from the Southern Turfgrass Association.

The report by Richard L. Duple, extension turfgrass specialist at Texas A&M University, is on winter-kill of turfgrass, and it contains useful tips on helping lawns recover from the large dead areas.

Some lawns in Mississippi lost 60 percent of their grass cover because of the December freeze.

The damage, as it turns out, was not due to the cold alone, but to a combination of cold weather and stress brought on by drought conditions.

St. Augustinegrass, centipedegrass and bermudagrass were the warm-season lawn grasses experiencing the worst damage. St. Augustinegrass was damaged more severely than either bermudagrass or centipedegrass.

Grass in shaded areas experienced the most severe damage because it had shallow roots, thin cell walls and very low energy reserve. Tree roots competing for available soil moisture added to the stress of shaded grass and increased the severity of the damage.

Homeowner with severely damaged or dead lawns may possibly consider switching to another type of grass to avoid injury from future freezes.

Tall fescue and zoysiagrass provide alternatives for St. Augustinegrass and centipedegrass in the upper South, while bermudagrass is an alternative for full-sun areas. In the lower South, centipedegrass and St. Augustinegrass are still good choices.

The deadline for planting warm-season grasses depends on your location and the type of grass. The deadline for zoysiagrass and bermudagrass in north Mississippi is Aug. 15, while Sept. 15 and Sept. 30 are the cutoff dates for the Gulf Coast. St. Augustinegrass and centipedegrass are not recommended for extreme north Mississippi.

Deadlines for planting these warm-season grasses in central and south Mississippi are: St. Augustinegrass—Aug. 15 and Sept. 15; centipedegrass—Sept. 1 and Sept. 15.

Where a switch to zoysiagrass or tall fescue is being considered, remove all remnants of St. Augustinegrass and centipedegrass. Tall fescue should be seeded only in the fall.

With good maintenance, fertilization, watering and regular mowing, many existing lawns will recover by mid-to-late summer.

Bermudagrass will recover faster than St. Augustinegrass and centipedegrass in full-sun areas.

Lawns that were predominantly St. Augustinegrass or centipedegrass may have significant amounts of bermudagrass and weeds this summer. In time, these lawns will return to their original makeup of grasses.

Where large patches of

Bay girls take top flag corps honors

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A dedicated trio of Our Lady Academy students braved strong competition from three states to capture top honors in the recent Drum Major and Guard Camp held at the University of Southern Mississippi.

OLA seniors Alicia Griffith and Shannon Monti and sophomore Kim Manieri, members of the St. Stanislaus band flag corps, also took home two second places and two first places in daily competition at the Hattiesburg camp.

According to Manieri, other competing squads were comprised of up to 11 girls and were coached by directors and sponsors.

The Bay St. Louis girls were particularly proud of their honor, as they made up their own routines and each paid her own way to camp.

Last year the girls earned honorable mention.

Griffith is the daughter of Laura Piazza Griffith and William Griffith, both of Bay St. Louis. Monti is the daughter of Lourdes and Ken Monti, also of Bay St. Louis.

Manieri is the daughter of Pete Manieri of Bay St. Louis and Elaine Peets of Illinois.

They will participate in a flag camp next week at St. Stanislaus High School under the direction of Hancock North Central band director Rudy Rowell.

The camp, July 23-27, is open to interested students from any area school. There will be a nominal fee. For information, call Catchie Choina at 467-6689 or St. Stanislaus at 467-9057.

Staton to offer poetry reading

Lee Roy Staton, retired businessman and resident of Gulfport since 1929, will present a poetry recital July 23, 1:30 p.m. to the Friends of the Library at the Gulfport Public Library. The public is invited.

Staton, who owned a Pontiac dealership in Gulfport for 32 years, has been writing poems since he was a child.

"I began writing poems for school when I was a kid growing up in the backwoods of Kentucky," said Staton, who came to the Coast in 1929 to teach at the old Gulf Coast Military Academy.

And he's still writing, "whenever the mood strikes." He said one of his inspirations is his bride, the former Clemmie McDonald. They have been married not quite two years.

Nature Conservancy reports productive year in Mississippi

Vol. 2, Number 2 of the Nature Conservancy Mississippi Field Office reports the following statistics:

Mississippi program projects: 12; acres saved, 92,850; and a Mississippi membership of 1,700.

It is heart-warming to read the following report where the Natural Conservancy and the Crosby Arboretum announce the signing of a five-year management agreement to expand environmental education and research opportunities in Mississippi and Louisiana.

The agreement will provide access for the arboretum and its associated scientists to all nature conservancy properties within a 60-mile radius of Picayune.

The radius includes Charter Oak and White Kitchen preserves in Louisiana and the recently acquired Sweetbay Bogs.

The Crosby Arboretum is a non-profit conservation and educational organization. It was established in 1979. Its purpose is to protect and preserve plant communities native to the Pearl River Drainage Basin. The arboretum consists of 64 acres Pinecote Native Plant Center and 11 discontinuous natural areas.

Free booklet offers tree planting, caring tips

You can add thousands of dollars to the value of your home, bring songbirds to your neighborhood and cut your energy costs up to 25 percent by planting and caring for trees.

A free booklet from The National Arbor Day Foundation, Conservation Trees, will show you how.

Conservation Trees is a colorfully illustrated, easy-to-use guide. It will show you how to cut your fuel bills by properly locating shade trees so that they provide cooling summer shade, but don't block the warm winter sun. And it describes how to plan a windbreak for maximum winter protection and a minimum of upkeep.

You'll learn how to create a natural habitat to attract songbirds to your backyard—how to provide cover, create needed habitat variety, and grow trees for food... even tips on maintaining a year-round water supply.

The design of the booklet makes it easy to browse through to pick up tips.

You'll discover how to protect trees during construction projects... correct tree planting steps... the importance of shading your air-conditioner... how to prune shade trees... and where to get local tree-care assistance.

The booklet even includes advice on managing tree plantations for Christmas trees, black walnuts, fuel wood or timber, and how shelterbelts can save topsoil and help farm profits.

To obtain your free copy of this valuable booklet, send your name and address to: Conservation Trees, The National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

Federal ruling addresses overboard garbage dumping

In an effort to curb the disposal of garbage and especially plastics into ocean and inland waters, a new federal ruling has established stiff penalties for tossing trash overboard and requires all boats above 26 feet to display a placard stating dumping garbage from the vessel is illegal.

The regulation, which applies to commercial and recreational vessels, is effective

July 31.

While the act covers all dumping of ship-generated garbage, it is particularly aimed at plastics.

The vinyl decals are available individually for $2. They are also available at special prices in quantity orders.

For further information, or to order the federally required placards, call Sea School toll-free at 1-800-237-8663.

COMMUNITY

SECTION B

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JULY 22, 1990-1B

Clean up, fix up

"Project Pride" hopes to beautify city—neighborhood by neighborhood

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Bay St. Louis residents have organized a grass roots effort to enhance the appearance of the city through neighborhood cleanups.

Dubbed "Project Pride," the campaign focuses on two goals—increasing security through a neighborhood watch program and beautifying the community.

"The cooperation of every individual is needed in this effort to restore Bay St. Louis," said Mayor Edward Favre. "Your success will build community pride, increase property values and serve as a stimulant to progress."

Favre admits, although the city's financial resources are limited, support from the administration is available through an area's respective councilman or council clerk, Michael Cuevas.

Cuevas recently returned from a trip to Auburn, Ala. where she noted streets and lawns were exceptionally clean. The overall picture was a pretty one; and one that Cuevas would like to see in Bay St. Louis.

"It starts with the homeowner. In many cities, the homeowner cuts the grass right to the street. It cuts down city maintenance expenses," she said.

The city offers the following guidelines for organizing a neighborhood cleanup:

I. Initial Meeting Preparation

a. Determine when you would like to have the meeting with your neighbors to discuss a cooperative cleanup. Make the time as flexible as you can to involve the greatest number of neighbors.

If your home is not large enough to accommodate a crowd, consider a lawn gathering. (Don't be shy, ask your neighbors to bring a chair and a cooler!)

b. "Project Pride" will help you with the following:

1. Produce sufficient flyers to cover your neighborhood.

2. Make an assessment of the neighborhood to be able to offer improvement suggestions at your meeting.

3. Make arrangements to have a speaker available to help explain the program and assist the neighbors in defining the goals that they want to reach.

II. First Meeting

a. Greet your neighbors, have a few extra pads and pencils, they may want to take notes.

When everyone has had a chance to visit a short time, start your meeting and explain your own interest in participating in "Project Pride," then introduce your speaker.

b. Your speaker will explain the program, indicate how the improvements will benefit your neighborhood, point out improvements that could be made and help the group determine its goals.

c. Setting up your neighborhood "Project Pride" Day.

1. Set your goals and write them down.

2. Select your target date. This should be a weekend.

3. Determine if your neighborhood will need outside volunteer help.

4. Appoint a neighbor to coordinate with City Hall.

5. Set the date, time and location of a brief meeting to take care of last minute details prior to the target date.

III. Second Meeting

a. This is a final detail meeting to take care of the following matters:

1. Arrange for a central location for information, refreshments, etc.

2. Make sure that anyone who may need additional help has a volunteer assigned.

3. Make sure that everyone is reminded of the goals of the neighborhood.

4. Arrange for a telephone committee if you determine that one is necessary.

5. Set a date, time and location for a follow-up meeting for everyone to discuss the outcome of the project.

IV. "Project Pride" Day

Have a great time. We all know that you will be successful!

What is Litter?

Litter is scattered trash—cans, paper, bottles, boxes, gum wrappers, plastics, tissues, empty cigarette packs, etc.

Litter is Not Little Problem!

Each year people drop 16,000 pieces of trash on each mile of primary highway in the United States.

This makes 425,000 miles of litter-covered roads. It also figures 6,800,000,000 pieces of trash each year.

Litter is Costly!

Removal of litter from public areas—parks, sidewalks, streets, highways, public buildings and grounds and from private property costs approximately one billion dollars each year in the United States. This cost is, of course, paid by the taxpayers.

Litter Lowers Property Values!

There is nothing like litter to drive away buyers of real estate, shoppers from stores, settlers from a neighborhood, tourists from a recreation area.

Home Owner's Check List

1. Do your homes and grounds make a good appearance to others?
2. Do your homes and grounds present a cluttered appearance to others?
3. Have all buildings on the property been properly maintained?
4. Is your porch and lawn furniture attractive and in a good state of repair?
5. Do you have junk or other unsightly articles on your porch, inside your garage that show?
6. Do you have any of the following around your home and yard:
  - (a) junk cars
  - (b) junk tires
  - (c) worn out machinery
  - (d) discarded appliances
  - (e) discarded toys, bottles, cans, paper, etc.
7. Do you regularly keep trash and litter picked up in your yard?
8. Do your garbage containers present an unsightly appearance? Please follow the city ordinance and do not put them out for pickup more than eight hours before pickup.
9. Have you planted shrubbery in your yard to screen from view service areas, etc.?
10. Is your yard well sodded and green?
11. Do you keep grass mowed and trimmed regularly?

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Gulf Coast
Writers Association

Lisa Monti, managing editor of Coast Magazine, will be featured speaker at the July 26 meeting of the Gulf Coast Writers Association at William Carey College on the Coast. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the auditorium.

Monti, who is also managing editor of Coast Business Journal, will speak on the editorial point of view for free-lance writers: what editors look for and the kind of "stress" that's wanted in an article. Her talk will be followed by a question and answer period.

Kim Campbell, acting president, will conduct the meeting to nominate officers for the coming year. All members are urged to be present.

In June, Patricia Boatner resigned the presidency because of business demands. She has taken a position with Kimberly-Clarke as technical writer and moved to Lenoir City, Tenn. When she left, Boatner asked all members to bring their full support to Campbell, the founder and first president of GCWA.

The association is a non-profit organization that is open to anyone seriously interested in the art of writing.

Meetings are fourth Thursday of each month and all writers, published or unpublished, are invited. Call 868-9485 or 832 2713 for information.

Disabled American Veterans
Chapter 50

Disabled American Veterans Chapter 50, Bay St. Louis 1990-91 officers were installed July 14.

They are Herman Lott, commander; Herbert Shiyou, senior vice commander; Jimmie Gaddy Jr., vice commander; Irvin Kingston, adjutant; Andrew Giacconi, treasurer.

Also, Roland Wohlschlegel, chaplain and service officer for Chapter 50; Lionel Diagono, legislative chairman; Jessie Burns, sergeant-at-arms; Frank Joseph Stass, historian; and Dennis Starita, officer of the day.

Executive board members include Herman Lott, John Rutherford, Eddie Bounds, Andrew Giacconi, Jessie Burns, Irvin Kingston, Herbert Shiyou and Jimmie Gaddy.

Installation officer was Hugh Sanford, past commander of DAV. Guests included Bay St. Louis city councilman John Wilkerson.

Attending the state convention in Meridian were Herman Lott, Andrew Giacconi and Jessie Burns. Guest speakers at the convention were U.S. Congressman E. V. Sonny Montgomery, Senator Trent Lott and past National Commander Alvin Meadows of Johnson County, Texas, who is serving as VA Advisory Committee on Education and Environmental Hazards. He is a staff officer involved in promoting legislation expanding the VA Direct Loan Program.

The chapter is active in many community service activities, including legislation concerning underprivileged children and service to veterans and their families.

Members spend volunteer hours at the VA Center and take the need to doctors and stores. They also donate to Mississippi Burn Center.

All eligible disabled veterans are invited to join and may contact any of the officers or call Herman Lott at 467-5603.

The chapter meets second Wednesday of each month at the DAV Hall, 303 Union Street, Bay St. Louis at 7:30 p.m.

Annunciation
Senior Citizens

The senior citizens of Annunciation Parish, Kiln, had their regular monthly covered-dish luncheon on Wednesday, July 18 at noon. There were 34 members and guests present. A buffet, desserts and soft drinks were served.

Games were played, and door prizes were awarded to five members.

Those celebrating July birthdays were Rita Taullto, Hazel Ladner and Herman and Doris Lizana.

Blood pressures were taken by Edna Harrington RN.

Next luncheon will be August 15 in the parish center.

For information, call the rectory or Estelle Depreo. All senior citizens are invited to attend the luncheon and social each month.

Six local educators attend UM seminar

Betty Ann Jones, Elaine LaFontaine and Linda Ladner from the Bay St. Louis School District and Myrna Bourgeois, Cindy Ladner and Debbie Estapa from the Hancock County School District, recently attended a one-day training program in early childhood education in Biloxi.

Designed to introduce new and improved curriculum guidelines to elementary school teachers, the Early Childhood Leadership Institute was one of five such regional workshops scheduled around the state during May and June. Jointly sponsored by The University of Mississippi School of Education and the State Department of Education, the workshops were directed and taught by Dr. Cindy Leigh, associate professor of elementary education at Ole Miss.

Dr. Leigh, principal author of the new "Primary Guide for Instructional Planning," taught the manual during each workshop session. Included in the publication are six interdisciplinary units incorporating Mississippi Basic Skills for grades 1-3, the language arts, hands-on science and manipulative-based mathematics.

Parents Without Partners

Parents without Partners invites all single parents to a planning meeting and pot luck supper at the Gaston Hewes Recreation Center, 1806 17th Street, Gulfport from 7:30-9 p.m. Thursday, July 26. There is no charge, just bring a pot luck dish and a friend.

Friendship Oak Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution

The Southern District of the Mississippi State Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will conduct the annual district meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 1 in the University Union of USM in Hattiesburg at 9 a.m.

Mrs. William Demoran, director of the MSSDAR-Southern District, will welcome more than 200 women. Mrs. Margaret DeMerville, state regent, will present the keynote address followed by members of her administration and state chairmen.

Purpose of the annual meeting is to help in local chapter leadership and planning chapter projects and programming.

Several representatives from Friendship Oak Chapter will attend.

American Legion Auxiliary
Unit 139

The Mississippi State Convention of the American Legion Auxiliary was July 14 and 15 in Biloxi. Everyone who attended came back with praises of the successful event.

Ladies who participated were Margaret Prevou, Judy Gavney, Bobbye Tomlinson, Billy Tudury, Ursula Favre, Evelyn Burns, Lou Wilkerson, Lucille Boudreaux, Susan Piazza, Jeanette Ladner, Janet Aime, Hazel Breland, Anna Brehm, Hazel Wohlschlegel and Christie LaFontaine.

Margaret Prevou, president, received many certificates, awards and plaques on behalf of Unit 139 for the various committees for the work done by the chairladies and members.

Congratulations to Lou Wilkerson on her election to the post of state second vice president and to Ursula Favre, chaplain, for her Book of Prayers and to all the committees for their efforts in making the convention a success for Unit 139.

Kiln VFW Auxiliary 6285

The regular monthly meeting of the Kiln Auxiliary to VFW Post 6285 was Tuesday, July 18 at the post home in Kiln.

Estelle Depreo, president, opened the meeting; Susie Harmon, chaplain, read the opening prayer; and the Pledge of Allegiance was said by all members.

The roll of officers was called followed by the reading of the minutes from the June meeting by Mildred Lee, secretary. The financial report was read by Bessie Necaise, treasurer, and was approved.

A family Bible, in memory of Lena S. Ladner, was presented to her family from the auxiliary.

Plans were discussed for the District 1 picnic at the post home in September.

Following the meeting, a covered dish supper was served.

Next meeting will be Aug. 21 at 7 p.m. at the post home.

Jaycees seek members

Bay-Waveland Jaycees are seeking new members to join their local chapter.

Jaycees are known locally for sponsoring the annual Children's Fishing Rodeo, a community Easter egg hunt, visiting the convalescent home and donating to several charitable organizations, including the Hancock County Food Pantry and March of Dimes.

Members are male or female, married or single, from ages 21-40. Meetings are held weekly on Wednesday nights at 7:30 p.m. at the Jaycee house on St. John Street. Many activities are family oriented.

Fundraising efforts by the Jaycees include dances, an annual softball tournament and various other projects.

Their slogan this year is "Meeting the Challenge". For additional information on the volunteer organization, call president Jimmy Ladner at 467-0761 or Kathy Pernicari at 467-7013.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Finerty-Tarnay

Laura Tourison Finerty of Jacksonville, N.C. and Louis Mark Tarnay of Camp LeJeune, N.C. exchanged wedding vows on April 21 in a 4:30 p.m. ceremony in Croom, Maryland.

The bride is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Martin J. Finerty of Annapolis, Maryland. The groom is the son of Mr. Louis R. Tarnay of San Jose, California, and Mrs. Maureen Smith of Salem, Oregon.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Our Lady Academy and formerly lived in Diamondhead. She graduated from the UMC school of nursing in 1987.

The groom is a First Lieutenant with the United States Marine Corps stationed at Camp LeJeune, N.C. with the combat Engineer Battalion.

Father Raffeto officiated at the ceremony, and musical selections were provided by James Wilson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal cathedral length taffeta gown with a sweetheart neckline. The bodice was embroidered with seed pearls and sequins.

Nancy Crutcher served as matron of honor and bridesmaids included Claire McLendon, Renee McCrairie, Missy Bridgeforth and Shelly Hulbert.

Rob Dunn served as best man and groomsmen included Richard Norveil, Lt. Jim Elzeth and Lt. Art Crow.

Paul Nyland served as usher.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Bay Ridge Inn.

The couple will be making their home in Jacksonville, N.C.

MRS. LOUIS MARK TARNAY

Strickland-Torres

MRS. NESTOR TORRES JR.

Donna Maria Strickland of Waveland and Nestor Torres Jr. of Waveland exchanged wedding vows on June 30 in a 6 p.m. ceremony at the Trinity Baptist Church in Petal, Mississippi.

Strickland is the daughter of Reverend and Mrs. Arthur D. Strickland of Petal and Torres is the son of Nestor Torres Sr. of Ontarion, Oregon.

Rev. Arthur D. Strickland, assisted by Rev. Jay Slaughter officiated at the ceremony. Tom Jenkins and Carol Messer performed musical selections played by organist, Ollie McKenna and pianist, Mel Lovette. Scripture readings were presented by Bekke Ray and Eric Storm.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory bridal satin fashioned with a Queene Anne neckline with high capped, tapered long sleeves. The bodice, fitted with sculptured embroidered lace and scrolled with sequins and pearls, closed at the back of the neck and featured an open back dropped with pearl strands.

The skirt swept from a basque waistline to form a chapel train. The front of the skirt and train were scattered with beaded and pearled re-embroidered lace.

Her headpiece was of pearls forming a v-band with clusters of pearls at each side.

Kymberly Bankston served as matron of honor and bridesmaids included Olga Torres and Darlene Crawford.

Dionne Land and Michelle Long were rice girls.

Jesse Torres served as best man and groomsmen included Ron de la Rosa and David Neizgoda.

Tony Darling and Joey Kranz served as usher. A reception followed the ceremony at the Trinity Baptist Church Fellowship Hall.

The couple will be making their home in Kiln.

Gauthier-Corr

Mary Gauthier of Chalmette, La. and Michael A. Gauthier of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jeannine Michelle Gauthier of Atlanta, Ga. to Rodney Owen Corr, also of Atlanta, son of Mrs. Janet Corr of Bay St. Louis and the late Donald E. Corr.

Gauthier was graduated from Hammond High School in 1985 and attended Southeastern Louisiana University. She is presently employed at the Toddle Tyke Company.

She is the granddaughter of Julian Joseph Desemar of Kentwood, La. and the late Mrs. Mildred McNabb Desemar.

Corr was graduated from St. Stanislaus High School in 1981 and attended Mississippi State University. He is self-employed.

He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Genin and the late Mr. and Mrs. John Corr of Bay St. Louis.

The couple will exchange wedding vows on August 11 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

Princess Shop Teen Board welcomed Miss Teen contestants

The Princess Dress Shop Teen Board in Bay St. Louis was asked to be the welcoming committee for the Miss Teen USA contestants as they arrived at the Gulfport-Biloxi Regional Airport on Monday, July 2 and Tuesday, July 3.

They used a Mardi Gras

theme and the teen board members dressed in costumes, had decorated umbrellas and danced to recorded Mardi Gras music. They had a large decorated billboard set up by the entrance and balloons in Mardi Gras colors.

"For each arrival," reports

Jane Anne Raley, manager of the dress shop, "ten to twelve of our girls greeted the contestants and placed Mardi Gras beads around their necks."

Between arrivals of flights, the teen board members made posters for the different parties the contestants were to attend during their stay and watched films of themselves greeting contestants earlier in the day.
